

July 2024

The University of Montana boasts a 74% medical school acceptance rate.

Bottoms up: UM's popular Brewing Science program is filling up with students.

College of Health Dean Reed Humphrey helped create UM's fastest-growing unit and a legacy of improved health care across Montana.

UM recently doled out the University's most prestigious awards for incoming students: the Presidential Leadership Scholarships and the Provost and Dean's Scholarships.

Kalispell student Loran Schneider won the Big Snowy Prize for young writers.

Three UM graduates earned prestigious Fulbright Scholarships to study abroad.

Two UM students earned the 2024 Bob and Sue Brown Undergraduate Scholarship for Ethics in Public Affairs from the Mansfield Center.

The Grizzly March Band hosted band directors from more than 100 colleges.

Incoming UM journalism faculty member Lisa Krantz is part of a team that won the 2024 Pulitzer Prize for National Reporting.

Law alumna Molly Shepherd donated her world-class collection of African art to UM.

UM law graduate Skyler Anderson's path took her from a Nike internship and working with the NBA to graduating as a criminal defense attorney.

UM graduate MarraLynn Rodriquez journeyed from being a suburban mom to becoming an environmental advocate.

Jaiden Stansberry won a Truman Scholarship, and she also found success at UM, graduating May 11 after landing a job with Grand Teton National Park.

Recent UM graduate Emily Mulvaney combined science with art when she created giant sculptures of some of her own gut bacteria.

Budding science teacher Simon Hill, who graduated from UM on May 11, has embraced using AI in the classroom – even teaching courses to older teachers on the topic.

Ruby Schipf, who graduated this spring with a degree in wildlife biology, spent two years monitoring grizzly bear activity in the mountains near Missoula.

The University released its spring semester Dean's List and President's 4.0 List.